NEW DELHI: The government plans to bring in a law to stop rampant plagiarism in institutions, with punishment ranging from a warning to debarment in the case of students and dismissal from service for teachers.

Higher education regulator University Grants Commission (UGC) is finalising a draft law — the first of its kind — that is likely to be sent to the Union research development ministry for further action by June-end. Official sources said the government intends to seek parliamentary approval for the law this year itself.

In the absence of a law, educational institutions deal with cases of plagiarism individually. Last year, the UGC made it mandatory for all universities to use anti-plagiarism software to check PhD theses.

There has been a raft of plagiarism charges against central university vice-chancellors and teachers in recent years.

A report on Pharmacy Aspirant's Program (PPRO)

Ramanbhai Patel College of Pharmacy in collaboration with IQAC, Charusat have devised a foundation program to orient and guide the students of 12th Science who are aspiring to get admission in B.Pharm. This is a unique program and identified as a "Pharmacy Aspirants' Program (PPRO)".

In order to inculcate the facets of pharmacy profession in young mind of aspirant students, we have designed entire program. The program has embraced sessions in three main categories: (1) Technical Skill, (2) Communication Skill, and (3) Life Skill. The technical skill has covered various topics which can act either as a foundation stone or bridge for the higher secondary students. It would help them to easily construe the concept of pharmacy during their regular lectures. Communication skill and life skill were covered various crucial components which would help to the participants to focus on various non-technical aspects which are essential for successful career and societal contribution after graduation. This P-PRO workshop was also inclusive of 30 sessions of a course "Communicative English". The course comprises of 30 sessions, and on successful completion of this course a certificate of completion was also awarded to the participants.

For effective delivery of the session through online mode, we have recorded every session and then made each of them available through the YouTube®. As per the planned schedule, the respective links of the sessions were enabled for the participants. Links for each day were already shared with the participants in advance.

More than 100 aspirants of 12th science pass out and more than 70 participants of UG and PG courses have registered for the PPRO. Due request of many other stakeholders and viewers we made program available through various social media platforms like Facebook®. We have received overwhelming response in terms of viewers and feedback from the participants. After looking at the satisfactions shown in the feedbacks, we may count it as a one of the successful programs in the bag of RPCP. Positive impact of this program may be reflected through the admission of brighter students. A detailed schedule of program and brochures are enclosed herewith as the annexures.

Plenty of faculty members form RPCP and IIIM were actively involved as the resource person or expert. Apart from the faculty members of CHARUSAT, few student and alumni of RPCP have also contributed their skills and experience during the PPRO sessions.
